

Parerea unui specialist

În colaborare cu Santiago Tiprișan
Monday, 23 February 2009

"Raritan is doing something we've been doing for a while- though I'm curious to learn whose PDU's they're using to extract this level data. The reporting is one aspect of this- the ability to then control and make decisions based on these historics is where the value is. It's solving three areas- power, capacity and asset management in order to drive down your Op-Ex numbers. In addition, customers know are asking about compute per watt and watt per application. Thanks for the link, Santiago."

Posted by Ed DiRocco